Emmy Newcomb is a senior at the College of William & Mary, majoring in neuroscience and minoring in history. She has been a member of the Undergraduate Honor Council since her freshman year and has served in multiple leadership positions as the Outreach Committee Chair, Elections Committee Chair and, most recently, Vice Chair for this past term. When she is not busy with Council work, she is also a campus tour guide, an Orientation Aide for freshmen and transfer students, and a member of both a social sorority and an a cappella singing group. After graduation, she will be moving to Washington, D.C. to begin working with Booz Allen Hamilton as a Consultant.

Michael Gibbons is a senior at the College of William & Mary, majoring in economics and minoring in accounting. He has been on the Undergraduate Honor Council for almost two years now and has been the Chief Financial Officer of the Council over the past year. Outside of the Honor Council, he is also the President of the College's Club Soccer team. Following graduation he will be interning at Ernst & Young for the summer and will be back at the College of William & Mary next year as a graduate student in the Master of Accounting program.

Mark Weston has served as the Assistant Director of Student Conduct at the College of William & Mary since October of 2013. As a member of the Dean of Students Office, he serves as a resource for students and student groups facing academic, social, and/or personal challenges, and through the conduct process, he works to support the continuance of a positive community marked by collective responsibility. Originally from Memphis, TN, he holds a Bachelor of Arts in Christian Studies/Philosophy and English from Mississippi College, and Master of Divinity from Duke University, and prior to joining the William & Mary family, he worked at Duke as a Residence Coordinator for Housing, Dining and Residence Life and as a researcher for the Center for Child and Family Policy.
